VESON NAUTICAL MOVES TO NEW CORPORATE HEADQUARTERS; EXPANDS PRODUCT MANAGEMENT STAFF

Office Supports Veson's Explosive Growth and Provides Open, Collaborative Environment

BOSTON, MA– November 28, 2006 –Veson Nautical, the US-based maritime software developer that delivers outstanding chartering, operations and accounting solutions for cargo transportation, is pleased to announce its move today to new corporate headquarters located at 162 Columbus Avenue in Boston, Massachusetts. Veson also announced today the addition of Jamie Sheldon, Director of Product Management, to Veson's growing staff located at the new Boston headquarters.

The facility, custom designed by Roy Leone who specializes in creating optimal environments for technology developers, will provide Veson's staff with a work environment that encourages open communication and allows for continued expansion. "Our new headquarters is a great reflection of our corporate culture," remarked John Veson, President of Veson Nautical. "It is designed to stimulate collaboration and heighten interaction among our employees. With the addition of technology professional Jamie Sheldon and others we plan to hire in the coming months, we needed to move to a much larger space to accommodate our growth. We look forward to serving our clients from our new space."

Jamie Sheldon, Veson's newest staff member, is a seasoned veteran within the enterprise software space, and is well versed in the technological and marketing aspects of product development.

Prior to his work with Centric, Sheldon co-founded Burlington MA based Framework Technologies. During his tenure with Framework he was involved in all company aspects including marketing, product development, sales and strategic direction. Through his contributions to the development of ActiveProject™, a turnkey web-based enterprise software solution, he was instrumental in helping Framework become a leading provider of project execution and decision support software. AEC and manufacturing companies adopted Framework's software solutions to achieve their cost and growth objectives.

In addition to Sheldon, Veson Nautical recently announced the addition of four new professionals in development, sales and marketing. The company continues to experience exponential growth, both here in the U.S. and abroad. Veson has opened offices in Greece and the Netherlands this year and has added many significant new customers of whom they have announced Moran Towing, The National Shipping Corporation of Saudi Arabia, Stolt-Nielsen and Neste Oil.

Veson's new headquarters is located at 162 Columbus Avenue, Boston, MA, 02116. The main telephone number is 617.723.2727. The company can be found on the web at www.veson.com.
